

An AFL-CIO Initiative to Build AN ECONOMY THAT WORKS FOR ALL

WHY IS IT SO HARD for so many workers in America to make a decent living in the richest country in history? Because over the past 35 years or so, politicians influenced by business and Wall Street interests have enacted a Corporate Agenda—to the advantage of the wealthy and the disadvantage of the rest of us.

Basically, workers have lost power in today's economy. And it's time to take it back.

With this initiative, we are building a network of informed and committed activists who will engage union members and the community in a conversation that will convey an alternative vision—a workers' perspective on the economy and the need for progressive economic change. The goal of our Working Families Agenda is to improve the lives of working families—including restoring the freedom to form unions, advocating for national health care reform and electing national, state and local political leaders who will champion an economy that works for all.
