

The Long and Winding Road to Equal Pay

Slower Progress and Substantial Differences Among States Mark the 1990s

Highlights for Working Women in Louisiana

- Working women in Louisiana are not as far along the road to equal pay as women in many states; in 2000, Louisiana's working women earned 73.2 percent as much per hour as men, while nationwide women earned 77.6 percent as much per hour as men. Louisiana ranked 48th among all states in equal pay.
- The rate of progress in closing Louisiana's hourly wage gap was slower than average in the 1990s. Louisiana ranked 35th among all states in progress in closing the hourly wage gap.
- Slow wage growth for men contributed to the closing of the gap—wages for men in Louisiana grew by only 6 percent over the decade, compared with 11.7 percent wage growth for women.
- At the current rate of change, working women in Louisiana—as well as working women nationwide—won't have equal pay until after 2050.
